Who we are

The Scottish Parliament
Pàrlamaid na h-Alba

We are the Health, Social Care and Sport Committee of the Scottish Parliament.

A committee is a small group of people who are Members of the Scottish Parliament also called MSPs.

The Scottish people decide who is an MSP by voting for them in elections.

The Scottish Parliament makes laws in Scotland.

Laws are rules that tell people what they can or cannot do.

They protect people and make sure everyone is treated in a good and fair way.

The Scottish Parliament also checks what the Scottish Government is doing.

The Scottish Government decides how to run the country.

The Scottish Government and the Scottish Parliament are separate organisations.

What this booklet is about

This booklet is about a new bill. A bill is a document that could become a law.

The Bill is called the Assisted Dying for Terminally Ill Adults (Scotland) Bill. The idea for the Bill came from an MSP called Liam McArthur.

Go to our website to find out more about the Bill

www.parliament.scot/bills-and-laws/bills/assisted-dying-for-terminally-ill-adults-scotland-bill

This information is not in Easy Read.

The Bill will become part of the law in Scotland if the other MSPs agree with it.

What the Bill is about

At the moment in Scotland, you could be breaking the law if you help a person to end their life.

The Bill is about changing the law on assisted dying.

For the Bill, assisted dying means a person gets help from a health professional to end their life.

For the Bill, a health professional is someone who is officially allowed to work in healthcare, like a doctor or a nurse.

The Bill is about changing the law so there is a way for adults who are terminally ill to have assisted dying.

For the Bill, adults are people who are 16 years old or more.

Terminally ill means you have an illness you will never get better from. The illness will lead to the end of your life.

We tell you what the Bill says below and on the next 3 pages.

The Bill says that to ask for assisted dying, a person must

- have a terminal illness
- be an adult
- have lived in Scotland for 12 months or more
- be able to make their own decisions
- be registered with a doctor in Scotland.

Registered means officially signed up at a doctor's surgery.

The Bill says that before a person decides they want to have assisted dying, they must have information about other choices, like palliative or hospice care.

Palliative care is care that supports people with a terminal illness to live the best life they can in the time before the end of their life.

A hospice is a place you can stay and be cared for when you have a terminal illness and you are close to the end of your life.

The Bill says 2 doctors must agree a person is eligible to have assisted dying.

Eligible means meet the rules for something.

The Bill says a person must make the decision to have assisted dying on their own.

2 doctors must agree the person has not been pressured or coerced into their decision.

If you are pressured into doing something, it means someone tries to make you do something you do not want to do.

If you are coerced into doing something, it means someone frightens you to make you do something you do not want to do.

The Bill says that if 2 doctors agree a person is eligible to have assisted dying, they can get a drug to end their life.

A health professional hands the drug to them, but they must choose to take it themselves.

You could still be breaking the law if you help a person to end their life but don't follow the rules in the Bill.

The Bill says that no one will have to help people end their life if they have a conscientious objection to doing this.

A conscientious objection is when you do not want to do something because your own beliefs mean you do not agree with it.

Tell us what you think

We want you to tell us what you think about the Bill.

We have written some questions for you to answer. This is called a survey.

The survey is to find out what people think about the Bill and how they think it could be made better.

The survey is not to find out how many people agree or disagree with the Bill.

The survey questions are on pages 14 to 18 of this booklet.

You do not have to answer all of the questions.

Thank you for helping us. What you tell us is important.

It will help the MSPs make the Bill better and decide if it should become a law.

About the survey

When you fill in the survey, do not give information about someone else that could tell other people who they are.

This means information like their name, address or where they work.

We will not use parts of your answers to the survey if

- you give information about someone else
- you use offensive language.

Offensive means bad language that might upset people.

How to fill in the survey

- Write your answer in the box under each question.
- If the question has small boxes, tick the box next to the answer you want to choose.

When you have filled in the survey, post it to this address

Thank you for answering our questions.

What we do with your information

Your information means anything you tell us that lets other people know who you are, like your name or email address.

If you answer questions in this survey, we will not publish your information or what you tell us in your answers.

Publish means put something where everyone can read it, like on a website or in a report.

We will read all the answers we get and write a summary.

A summary is a short version that tells you the main information we find out.

The summary will be published on the Scottish Parliament website.

MSPs will read the summary.

Privacy Notice

A Privacy Notice is a document that tells you what an organisation does with your information.
