followed by Scottish Government Debate: Walking – Improving Health and Strengthening Communities

S6M-04256 Maree Todd: Walking – Improving Health and Strengthening Communities—That the Parliament recognises National Walking Month and agrees that everyday walking and wheeling play a huge role in improving the health and wellbeing of people in Scotland; notes that the Scottish Government is committed to inclusive opportunities for everyone to walk and wheel, helping to connect and strengthen communities, reduce some of Scotland's biggest health inequalities and reduce pressure on the NHS, and further notes that the Scottish Government is committed to doubling investment across sport and active living, allocating record levels of investment to active travel, working with partners to reduce barriers to walking and wheeling and helping to make these the default choice for short journeys, leisure, socialising or as part of longer public transport journeys in Scotland, which will also contribute to Scotland's journey to net zero.

The Presiding Officer has selected the following amendment

S6M-04256.1 Paul O'Kane: Walking – Improving Health and Strengthening Communities—As an amendment to motion S6M-04256 in the name of Maree Todd (Walking – Improving Health and Strengthening Communities), insert at end "; recognises that wider cuts to local authority services hamper active travel and the implementation of a gendered approach to safety; considers that improvements to roads and pavements are necessary to improve levels of walking and wheeling, particularly in more deprived areas, and calls again on the Scottish Government to provide access to a bike for every child who cannot afford one by the end of 2022."

sees as the challenges and pressures nursing staff continue to be under as the country emerges from the COVID-19 pandemic; believes that nursing staff will play a critical role in the recovery from the pandemic, and notes the calls to urgently address the reported high levels of nursing vacancies in the Dumbarton constituency, and across the country, including by the implementation of the Health and Care (Staffing) (Scotland) Act 2019.

S6M-04202.1 Emma Harper: Celebrating Nurses on International Nurses Day—As an amendment to motion S6M-04202 in the name of Jackie Baillie (Celebrating Nurses on International Nurses Day), after "all that they do;" insert "considers that, in addition to Florence Nightingale, Scotland takes inspiration from Louisa Jordan, a Scottish nurse who had a prominent role during the First World War; understands that people come to nursing from all walks and stages of life and from many different cultural and ethnic backgrounds, and that nurses have a vital role in helping patients understand information about their diagnoses, care and treatment and in responding to patients' physical, clinical and emotional needs; acknowledges the breadth of areas that nursing encompasses, including adult, children, learning disability, mental health, perioperative, resuscitation, diabetes, cardiac and many others; understands that nurses make up the largest single profession in the NHS and are at the heart of the health service and care received by people across the age continuum; notes that they care for their patients in a variety of settings, not just in hospital wards, but in GP practices, homes and care homes, as well as in schools and communities across the country; considers that nurses in Scotland are highly skilled professionals, with some of the most advanced clinical skills of nurses anywhere in the world; welcomes the creation of the International Coalition of Respiratory Nurses (ICRN), initiated by Andreja Šajnic, a respiratory nurse from Croatia, with political support from Zeljana Zovko MEP, which aims to bring together nurses from across the world to collaborate and promote respiratory education among the profession, and also serves as another example of how nurses are advancing the profession; recognises what it sees as the steps that the Scottish Government is taking to support the profession and recruitment to it, including through a £10,000 bursary for student nurses; further recognises the Scottish Government's Nursing Vision to 2030, which it considers aims to prepare a nursing workforce that will be ready and able to meet people's needs up to 2030 through, for example, ensuring that nursing is better understood by the public by enhancing knowledge of how nursing can benefit them, increasing nursing's appeal as a career option, retaining a focus on supporting people experiencing periods of acute ill health in hospital and in the community, but increasingly also supporting prevention, addressing wider issues around promoting health and wellbeing, tackling inequalities and supporting parity of esteem between physical and mental healthcare, and through ensuring that nurses continue to receive the best and fairest pay deal, with nurses in Scotland being, on average, it understands, the highest paid in the UK; notes the calls to urgently address the reported high levels of nursing vacancies across Scotland, but welcomes what it sees as the continued work of the Scottish Government to address nursing staff vacancies; further notes the calls on the Scottish Government to continue to engage with the profession as this work progresses through, and out of, the current COVID-19 pandemic; thanks nursing staff again for everything that they do for the people of Scotland;". Cunninghame Graham and Scotland: Party, Prose, and Political Aesthetic*, authored by the political scholar and history PhD, Dr Lachlan Munro, and published by Edinburgh University Press, will be launched at The Black Bull Inn, Gartmore, on 6 May 2022; acknowledges that R.B. Cunninghame Graham was one of the most influential Scottish politicians of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, described by Dr Munro as "the most contentious, controversial, and contradictory Scot of his generation"; understands that Cunninghame Graham, born in 1852, was a radical political campaigner, who founded the Scottish Labour Party with Keir Hardie in 1888, and was later instrumental in founding The National Party of Scotland in 1928, a predecessor of the Scottish National Party (SNP), becoming honorary president of the SNP; further understands that Cunninghame Graham, also a writer, journalist and adventurer, was elected as the Liberal MP for North West Lanarkshire but, after witnessing the poverty and destitution among the mining community, rebelled against his own party; notes that he was known as "The Miners' MP" and was an outspoken anti-racist and anti-imperialist who, at the age of 62, volunteered for service in the First World War, and was awarded the title of Colonel; recognises that, following his death in Buenos Aires in 1936, his body lay in state, and his coffin, followed by thousands of people, was put aboard the ship he planned to sail home on, and that he was buried in the ancient priory on Inchmahome where his grave can still be seen; commends Dr Munro's efforts in highlighting Cunninghame Graham's extraordinary and controversial life, and wishes him every success with the book launch.

For each Bill, the date of the next (or most recent) event in the Bill's passage is given. Other relevant information, e.g. about lodging amendments, is given in italics.

As soon as a Public Bill (i.e. a Government, Committee or Member's Bill) has completed Stage 1, amendments for consideration at Stage 2 may be lodged; and as soon as Stage 2 is completed, amendments for Stage 3 consideration may be lodged. The last lodging day for amendments at Stage 2 is four sitting days before the meeting at which those amendments will be considered (e.g. Wednesday for a meeting on Tuesday); at Stage 3 it is five days before. Amendments may be lodged until 4.30 pm on any sitting day, except on the last lodging day for each Stage, when the deadline is 12 noon.

A Hybrid Bill is subject to the same rules except in the case of Stage 2 where amendments for consideration may be lodged no earlier than the completion of any consideration of evidence at Stage 2.

Amendments to Private Bills are subject to different deadlines. These are set out in Rule 9A.12 of Standing Orders.

Members are advised to lodge amendments in good time before the beginning of a Stage and as early as possible during the day.

(G) = Government Bill; (M) = Member's Bill; (C) = Committee Bill; (P) = Private Bill; (H) = Hybrid Bill.
